

CapAir Booking FAQs and Customer Help Center Content

Purpose: This document provides customer-facing answers to common questions about using the CapAir website, booking flights, managing reservations, checking in, and accessing account information. It is intended to support customers through the CapAir booking and travel experience and serve as a source of knowledge for the CapAir chatbot. Detailed policies regarding baggage, flight changes, cancellations, refunds, upgrades, travel requirements, and check-in procedures are provided in separate CapAir policy documents.

1. Booking a Flight

How do I book a flight on CapAir?

Customers can book a flight by completing each step in the CapAir booking flow:

- Search for available flights.
- Select a departure flight.
- Select a return flight, if booking a round trip.
- Enter passenger information.
- Select seats.
- Add checked bags, if needed.
- Review trip details.
- Complete checkout.

The booking flow guides customers through each step before a reservation is confirmed.

Can I book a one-way flight?

Yes. Customers may search for one-way travel when that option is available in the booking flow.

Can I book a round-trip flight?

Yes. Customers may book round-trip travel by selecting both a departure date and a return date during flight search.

Do I need an account to book a flight?

Yes. Customers must be signed into a CapAir account to access the booking and trip-management experience. This allows customers to manage reservations, view account information, and access supported CapAir features.

What information do I need to search for a flight?

Customers should provide the information required by the flight search form, which may include:

- Departure airport.
- Arrival airport.
- Travel date or dates.
- Number of passengers.
- Trip type.
- Preferred cabin class.

2. Selecting Flights

How do I choose a flight?

After searching, customers can review available flight options and select the flights that best fit their schedule and travel preferences.

What cabin classes are available?

CapAir cabin options may include Economy, Premium, Business, and First Class. Availability varies by aircraft, route, and flight.

Cabin Class	Description
Economy	Standard cabin option.
Premium	Enhanced cabin experience when available.
Business	Higher-service cabin option when available.
First Class	Highest available cabin experience when offered.

What is a layover?

A layover occurs when a customer connects through another airport before reaching the final destination. Customers should review flight duration, stop information, and itinerary details before selecting a connecting flight.

Can I change my flight selection before checkout?

Yes. Customers may return to previous booking steps and adjust flight selections before completing checkout.

3. Passenger Information

What passenger information is required?

Customers may be required to provide passenger details before continuing through the booking flow. Required fields must be completed accurately.

- Full legal name.
- Date of birth.

- Contact information, when required.
- Travel-related information.

Can I book travel for another person?

Yes. Customers may book travel for another individual when all required passenger information is provided.

Why am I seeing a passenger information error?

Passenger information errors may appear when required fields are missing, incorrectly formatted, or incomplete. Customers should review the highlighted fields, correct the information, and continue.

Can I add TSA PreCheck or Known Traveler information?

Customers may provide Known Traveler information in account management.

4. Seat Selection

How do I select seats?

Customers select seats after entering passenger information and before proceeding to baggage selection and checkout.

Do all passengers need a seat assignment?

Customers may be prompted to select seats for all travelers included on the reservation and for each applicable flight segment.

Is seat selection free?

Standard seat selection is currently treated as complimentary when booking with CapAir.

Can I change my seat after booking?

Yes. Customers may change seats through Manage Trips when seat changes are available.

How do I change seats after booking?

1. Open Manage Trips.
2. Select the reservation.
3. Choose Modify Trip.
4. Select Change Seats.
5. Update seats for each passenger based on availability.
6. Continue and return to the Manage Trips page.

What if my preferred seat is unavailable?

Seat availability may change as customers book and modify reservations. Customers may select another available seat or check again later if changes are supported.

5. Checked Bags

Can I add checked bags during booking?

Yes. Customers may add checked bags during the baggage selection step before checkout.

Can I add checked bags after booking?

7. Return to the Manage Trips page.

Where can I find baggage fees?

Detailed baggage fees, size limits, weight limits, prohibited items, and special baggage handling rules are available in the CapAir Baggage Policies document.

6. Checkout and Payment

What happens during checkout?

Checkout allows customers to review and confirm their trip before completing payment.

- Passenger information.
- Flight selections.
- Cabin class.
- Seat assignments.
- Checked bag selections.
- Taxes, fees, and total cost.
- Payment information.

What should I review before purchasing?

Customers should carefully review trip details before submitting payment. Passenger names, airports, travel dates, flight times, cabin selections, seats, baggage, and total cost should be correct before checkout is completed.

What happens if payment fails?

If payment cannot be processed, the reservation may not be completed. Customers should review payment information and try again. A booking is not confirmed until a confirmation number is generated.

Can checkout errors be corrected?

Yes. The booking flow may display error messages to help customers correct missing or invalid information before confirming the reservation.

7. Booking Confirmation

How do I know my booking is confirmed?

A reservation is confirmed when CapAir provides a confirmation number and booking confirmation details.

Where can I find my confirmation number?

Customers may find their confirmation number on the confirmation page and in reservation details when the trip is available through Manage Trips.

What should I do if I cannot find my reservation?

1. Verify that you are signed into the correct CapAir account.
2. Review the confirmation information from checkout.
3. Check Manage Trips for the reservation.
4. Contact CapAir customer support if the reservation cannot be located.
